FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: September 14, 2011

IATRIC SYSTEMS PUBLIC HEALTH REPORTABLE LAB RESULTS
INTERFACE RECEIVES ONC-ATCB 2011/2012 CERTIFICATION

September 14, 2011 – Iatric Systems, Inc. announced today that its Public Health Reportable Lab Results Interface, version 1.5 for MEDITECH Client/Server and 6.0, is 2011/2012 compliant and was certified as an EHR Module on August 31, 2011 by the Certification Commission for Health Information Technology (CCHIT®), an ONC-ATCB, in accordance with the applicable hospital certification criteria adopted by the Secretary of Health and Human Services. The 2011/2012 criteria support the Stage 1 Meaningful Use measures required to qualify eligible providers and hospitals for funding under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA).

Joel Berman, President and CEO of Iatric Systems, states, "This certification continues to support what has been our mission for more than 20 years, which is to help our customers improve the delivery of healthcare and to make a positive impact on public health. Our Lab Reportables Interface directly supports this endeavor. In July of this year, we were proud to announce that our Lab Reportables Interface was certified for MEDITECH's MAGIC platform. Now, our Lab Reportables Interface is certified for all current MEDITECH platforms."

"CCHIT is pleased to be testing and certifying products so that companies are now able to offer these products to providers who wish to purchase and implement certified EHR technology and achieve meaningful use in time for the 2011-2012 incentives," said Karen M. Bell, M.D., M.S.S., Chair, CCHIT.

Iatric Systems IIM Public Health Reportable Lab Results Interface, version 1.5, was certified as an EHR Module, certification numbers CC-1112-290560-11 (MAGIC) and CC-1112-290560-16 (Client/Server & 6.0). This EHR Module is 2011/2012 compliant and was certified by an ONC-ATCB on June 20, 2011 and August 31, 2011 respectively, in accordance with the applicable certification criteria adopted by the Secretary of Health and Human Services. The certification criteria that were met include 170.306(g), 170.302(o), 170.302(p), 170.302(q), 170.302(r), 170.302(s), 170.302(t), 170.302(u) and 170.302(v). This certification does not represent an endorsement by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services or guarantee the receipt of incentive payments.

ONC-ATCB 2011/2012 certification conferred by CCHIT does not represent an endorsement of the certified EHR technology by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services nor does it guarantee the receipt of incentive payments.

About CCHIT®

The Certification Commission for Health Information Technology (CCHIT®) is an independent, 501(c)3 nonprofit organization with the public mission of accelerating the adoption of robust, interoperable health information technology. The Commission has been certifying electronic health record technology since 2006 and is approved by the Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology (ONC) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) as an Authorized Testing and Certification Body (ONC-ATCB). More information on CCHIT, CCHIT Certified® products and ONC-ATCB certified electronic health record technology is available at <http://cchit.org>.

About ONC-ATCB 2011/2012 certification

The ONC-ATCB 2011/2012 certification program tests and certifies that EHR technology is capable of meeting the 2011/2012 criteria approved by the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS). The certifications include Complete EHRs, which meet all of the 2011/2012 criteria for either eligible provider or hospital technology and EHR Modules, which meet one or more – but not all – of the criteria. ONC-ATCB certification aligns with Health Information Technology: Initial Set of Standards, Implementation Specifications, and Certification Criteria for Electronic Health Record Technology published in the Federal Register in July 2010 and strictly adheres to the test procedures published by the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) at the time of testing. ONC-ATCB 2011/2012 certification conferred by the Certification Commission for Health Information Technology (CCHIT®) does not represent an endorsement of the certified EHR technology by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services nor does it guarantee the receipt of incentive payments.
